Notice.

We have heard many reasons offered for the re-election of Lincoln, but the only tangible one that has ever reached us is the one offered by Mr. Seward, about eighteen months ago, in his famous Albany speech. It is to this effect: The President of the United States is elected to hold the office over the entire thirty-four States and the territories.

Mr. Lincoln, through the act of the rebellion, is not, in fact, President of only twenty-four States. He has, therefore, been deprived of an indefeasible right. Now all that Mr. Lincoln wants is "his right."

The people and the States by this spondid theory are property of the President during his term. His election is like any other purchase of property. He is entitled to the enjoyment of the whole of it. It is a vested right in him, and he has the same right of possession to the people that a man has to his horses and hogs. This is what we call a legal basis. It rests upon the technicalities of the law and the right of purchase. We appreciate, therefore, the challenge of the Hon. Secretary of State, and all the little Honorable and Di-honorable who base their claims upon this.

We suppose there is no one sufficiently dull or treacherous as to affirm that Mr. Lincoln has been actual President of the seceded States, nor is there any one who will assert that he would not like to preside over them, provided he was permitted to do so. Here is therefore, a clear depuration by the rebellion of a vested right. Some persons have been robbed of their cattle and negroes; but who is there that can stand up but Mr. Lincoln and say that he has been robbed of the Presidency of the whole United States, its honors, and emoluments? We trust that this just and righteous plea will be considered, gravely considered; that our people

North and South will bear in mind that when his Excellency, Mr. Lincoln, was elected by the people to the office he now holds we becomes entitled to them—all of them—in the beat for the term of four years. Their lives, libeerties, franchises, all are included in the contract between the parties. Until that contract is fulfilled in every particular by the consent of the people, Mr. Lincoln is delayed and debarred in it and his just due. He must be President of all the United States from the gulf to the lakes, from ocean to ocean, before he has actually received the benefit of the contract.

This clear and legal view of the question relieves it of many difficulties. While, as a matter of innocent amusement never intended to have any real effect, the people may be allowed to carry on, in play, an election, yet the actual right of passage to that office belongs to the present incumbent of the Presidency. This permission, if it is granted, is a generous concession to the passions and projects of an ill-trained public sentiment. In reality, Mr. Lincoln is and must be President until such time as that he shall be recognized as President over the whole United States.

It is his vested right; his legal right. The law declares it, and the court awards it. No election can add anything to his claim of right and no election can deprive him of it. It is upon this sound and only basis that Mr. Seward places Mr. Lincoln's claims, and that they will doubtless be recognized by his party.

Under such circumstances, when a clear right is thus established, it is surprising that any one would presume to contest it. But the heart of man is desperately wicked, and some persons are not willing to concede this right, or, still worse, while they acknowledge it, are disposed to repudiate it. Mr. Seward and others may assert and prove that Mr. Lincoln only wants his rights; that his humble petition is only to be "let alone" in the Presidential chair, but these defaulters will not cease these aggressions.

This dilemma we see but one way for a compromise. While Mr. Lincoln has this righteous claim to be President of all the United States, we must concede that he has been President of more than half of them, and very much President at that. With this fact, and conceding that it is only a compromeise, we suggest that for the ensuing four years he shall be President of the other half, the Southern Confederacy. We think this will harmonize the contending factions, and it is possible that, under his executive concerns, and a celerate giving, the radicals may have as little difficulty as possible in getting the next administration.

CITY NEWS.
THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION WILL MEET AT Louisville, June 28, 1864.

THE ATTAQUE UPON THE SCIENCE.—In yesterday's Democrat we made mention of the guerrillas on the Lower Ohio and the Science being fired into at Hawesville. We have since learned that the boat was fired into by citizens, under the following circumstances: A negro went to Hawesville and opened a recruiting office for negro soldiers, and this so exasperated the citizens that they drove the negro recruiter from the town. They afterwards learned that he managed to get aboard of the Science, and they ordered the boat to stop, which being refused, they fired in the negro, who was at this time seen on the lower deck. The engineer, Mr. Burkhardt was slightly injured by a spear ball; and a foreigner, whose name we did not learn, was shot through the calf of the leg. The above are the facts as related to us by a gentleman who was at Hawesville at the time.

ARREST OF A SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.—Yesterday R. Henderson was arrested and taken before the Provost Marshal as a dangerous character. He is said to have been from some point in Tennessee, and at the time of his arrest had in his possession over one thousand dollars in gold. Since his stay in our city, which has been short, his actions have been very suspicious, and he has been closely watched by our detectives. There are some facts connected with this man which go to show that he has been connected with some of the bands of guerrillas which have committed many depredations in the State of Tennessee, and he was last evening sent to Nashville, where his case will be thoroughly investigated.

STEAMBOAT ROBBERY.—The America arrived from the Cumberland river last evening. On her way up a number of passengers were robbed of their watches and several hundred dollars in money. The boat had on board a regiment of soldiers who had lately been paid off, and it was them that were the sufferers. At some point on the Cumberland river seven persons got aboard, and they were suspected as the thieves. They were placed under arrest on the boat, and a court, consisting of the passengers, convened for their trial. Some of the number were released, and the remainder of them were under arrest when the boat passed here last evening.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Tuesday, June 21.—Colman Crease, drunk and disorderly conduct; $300 for six months.

Jacob Springer, presented as a suspected felon; held in $300 for six months.

Taylor Kirby, presented as a suspected felon; $300 for good behavior for three months.

A confined case from yesterday against Richard Craig, charged with stealing pants, &c., from James McGarry, at the Transfer stable, on Center street; only a pest transferred; held to answer a misdemeanor in $300 this court.

OUR Police Court daily presents many new phases in human life, and at this place many lessons may be learned. It is amusing sometimes to see the diversity of opinions in regard to the value of some article when a man is presented on the charge of felony. Yesterday a man was before the Police Court charged with stealing a pair of pants. The fact of the theft was clearly proved, and the defense then raised the point as to the value of the stolen goods. Some eight or ten tailors were brought into court who examined the pants, but no two agreed, their value being fixed at from $5 to $7.

GRAND MASONIC FESTIVAL.—The Mt. Zion Lodge, No. 147, has made arrangements for a grand festival at Woodland Garden, St. John's day, the 24th of June. The members of this lodge are requested to meet at their hall at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 24th instant. Brethren of sister lodges in good standing are invited to participate. The festival tickets can be had at a number of different places designated in the advertisement to be found under the head of "Amusements," in our columns this morning.

THE MURKIN TRIAL.—The evidence in this case has been closed, and the argument for both the prosecution and defense heard. The record, which is large, has been received, and the case submitted to the Court, who have it under deliberation. We will publish the findings and sentence of the Court as soon as they are approved by the Commanding General.

BARRACKS ITEMS.—The only receipts at the barracks yesterday were fifty convalescents and recruits from different points, twelve recruits from Park Barracks, and three deserters from Indianapolis. The transfers were twenty-nine convalescents and recruits to the front, and nine prisoners sent off in iron—eight to Nashville and one to Frankfort.

THE train which arrived from Nashville yesterday brought up as prisoners twenty-seven commissioned officers, and two hundred and fifty-seven privates and non-commissioned officers, who were lately captured at the front. They were sent to the military prison, where they will be confined until sent to the different prisons at the North.

Major Thos. Cheneoweth, Capt. C. C. Morgan, Sungon Good and Lieut. Voorheis, of the rebel army, who were taken by General Burbridge when they came to Falmouth under a flag of truce, were last evening sent to Indianapolis, where they will be retained until their case is decided by the Secretary of War, to whom it has been referred.

"Annie and Her Master" is the title of a love story from Blackwood's Magazine, just issued by G. P. Putnam, and adapted for railroad reading. It is a pleasant story, and can be bought for twenty cents.

We direct the attention of members of the diffused Trade's Unions to the advertisement of a basket pic-nic at Spring Garden, to be given on Monday next, the 27th of June.

THE KILLING OF COLONEL JAMES POOLE AT HENDERSON, KY., BY GUERRILLAS.—The New Albany Ledger of the 21st furnishes the particulars as follows of the most daring outrage which was committed by guerrillas at Henderson, Ky., on Saturday night. Colonel James Poole, recently commissioned as Colonel of the militia of Henderson county, last week issued an order for the organization of the same. Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, while Poole was standing at the counter of the Union hotel, in Henderson (where he was boarding), taking a drink of water, three guerrillas came in at the door and advanced up to him. "One got on one side of him, one on the other, and the third behind him. The one on his left side asked, 'Are you Mr. Poole, Capt. Jim Poole?' He answered, 'I am.' The guerrillas replied, 'Then you are my prisoner.' Poole replied, 'I reckon not,' and commenced drawing his pistol. Immediately the guerrillas fired three shots. After an interval of four or five seconds they began firing again, then retreated towards the door and through it. Poole pursued to the door, fired one shot and fell. He was shot through the breast and thigh, and died in about a minute after falling.

The guerrillas ran up the street about two squares and then returned with fifteen or twenty others. They did no other damage at the hotel, but robbed the store of G. A. Mayer & Sons' several guns, also some pistols and ammunition, and captured Capt. Sam Allen, late of the Eighth Kentucky cavalry, and took him away with them. They also captured James Schaeffer, a recruit in the six months service in Kentucky. The number of guerrillas is variously estimated, but from the most reliable accounts there were about twenty-five in town. So far as this relates to Col. Poole's death, the above was the evidence elicited before the coroner's jury Sunday morning. The guerrillas were under command of one Capt. January from Union county.

S.—Since the above was in type, a report has reached this city that Lieutenant Goodie, of the United States Navy, who had command of a gunboat on the Lower Ohio, had been captured by the guerrillas and executed. We were unable to learn any particulars in regard to this affair, and give the reports as we heard them from passengers who arrived from below.

A QUIET AND INTERESTING CASE.—The entire press of the country for some time has been filled with notices of runaways and escapees, which have presented many new and startling phases, but the one which we are about to relate eclipses everything of the kind that we remember to have seen. On yesterday morning a man by the name of Thomas Ogg arrived in our city, having in his possession a number of very fine horses, which he offered to sell at a remarkable low price. This fact, together with the suspicious actions of Ogg, attracted the attention of officers Slater and Cross, who, being convinced that all was not right, placed Ogg under arrest. Ogg stoutly protested his innocence and nearly destroyed them. In addition to this, the almost unprecedented draught has caused him to practice an apprehension that the eunuchs necessary to be limited quantity produced.

If you think proper to publish this you will confer a favor on many readers in this neighborhood, and obliging me to do so.

Yours obedient servant, ABEL MEADOR.

GUERRILLAS ON THE LOWER OHIO.—The guerrillas on the Lower Ohio are becoming more troublesome every day, and no boats coming up the Ohio are now allowed to land at any point on the Kentucky side. When the Star Grey Eagle passed up, there was some excitement at Cloverport, occasioned by some four hundred guerrillas being a few miles back of that place. A perfect reign of terror exists all along the river between Henderson and Salt river, and every boat that arrives from below brings up a large number of citizens who are fleeing from their homes in fear of being conscripted into the rebel army.

It is proposed to send to the hospitals the entire graduating class of the medical college at Burlington, Vermont.

LOCAL NOTICES.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION POST- PONED.

The Kentucky Democratic Convention is hereby postponed on account of the interruption of railroad communications, to Tuesday, June 28th. By order of Democratic Central Committee. J. R. BUCHANAN, Chairman.

HAT! HAT! HAT!—150 tons of prime Tim-othy hay in store and for sale by G. R. PATTON, 120 Fourth st., bet. Main and river.

After the old man left Ogg professed devoted love for his aunt, which feeling was reciprocated, and the two agreed upon an elopement, and arrangements were soon completed for the same. The lady, whose name we did not learn, before she left Richmond, Ky., procured, upon the credit of her husband, some $400 worth of goods, and Ogg stole the horses. The two came to this city and put up at the St. Cloud hotel, reporting themselves as man and wife. The greater portion of the stolen goods were recovered and the man arrested as above stated. The parties are said to have been married just before they left Richmond under assumed names.
